

WHY LOVEABLE LIGHT...

(photo: Toon Büchner)

“The world is already ruined, what can I do about it, as just one individual?” I often hear around me. Admittedly, looking at the news is not cheering me up either, watching another attack, war or murder with many victims. However, the saying “improve the world and start with yourself” still applies.

When writing my second novel, Darkness and Light, I was actually led to reflect on something I had written. In chapter 23 the leading character of the story is studying a speech spoken by a psychic in trance. It states that the present look and feel of the world is in fact determined by all of us. It is a true sum total of our positive and negative actions. Filtered through a funnel, unfortunately the outcome is negative.

“Why is that?” I wondered. The action of one person can affect those of another; in essence it’s very easy to start a “snowball effect”, also confirmed by quantum physics.

Historically, it works like a charm if someone has a very bad, almost evil idea. Once launched, it will spread like wildfire. Take Hitler as an example. In no time almost the entire nation was supporting his philosophy and standing behind him, which had far-reaching consequences.

An idea was born! I truly hope that the snowball effect targeting evil and very bad practices will do the same when the intention is good and full of love.

Over the past year I have spoken with many people who share my point of view. Basically it's very simple. First start loving yourself. It really doesn't matter who or what you are, as a human being you are unique with your own specific wonderful talents; someone to love, but also a person who can give love to others.

You are in fact Loveable Light's very soul. Just start wondering what you could do as an individual to give some more love to this world, shining your light of positive energy in your everyday life. It's the little touches that make the difference. And we need to start somewhere to enable a snow ball effect in due course. I thank you so much for helping to make this world a better place to live.

In the meantime a couple of activities took place with only one goal: create bit by bit more love in this world by acting together. Each deed of love, no matter how small, may contribute to a better more pleasant living environment.
